

Alina Tarabarinova born in 1985 in Saint-Petersburg. Graduated from the faculty of Journalism at Saint-Petersburg State University. A member of Russian Photographers' Union from 2011.

When speaking about photography she prefers to smile. Taking pictures of herself, around herself and in spite of herself. Devoted to documentary and street photography, if only "devotion" can be applied to photographers. Peeking at conceptual photography from times to times. Traveling around the world to shoot films under all types of the sun. Twisting her own blend of sweet'n'sour emotions she is not going to share the recipe - all you can do is taste and remain hungry.
